Trains Leaving Ashtabula Depot. GOING EAST.

THE DESK OF THE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH will be supplied on Sabbath next by the Rev. N. P. Banney, of Puinesville.

The New Congregational Church in this village, has the first death among its members to record in the decease on Friday the first just, of Mrs. J. G. MERRIMAN, wife of Dea. ALPHROS MERRIMAN, in her 68th year. The young church as well as community soffers a serious loss in the removal of this mother in Israel, but the bereavement falls with heavy weight upon him whom she has left to complete life's journey companionless and alone.

POLITICS IN THE PULLIT .- We insert this week upon, the first page, a sermon of marked ability, by Prof. HARRIS, of Bangor Seminary, upon the connection and proper blending of polities and religion. The subject is not only grappled with the hand of a moster, but the views taken of it are those of a vigorous and liberal mind-a mind, it seems to us, imbued with an honest desire to find, and follow the lines as drawn by the finger of Deity, of obligation and The arguments here advanced, and the views here taken, may appear incongruous and heterodox, when viewed through the medium to which the moral vision of some of our readers has been adapted. There has come to be in this the Republican candidate for the Presidency ready argument against allusion to the subject of slavery in the pulpit-that it is a political question-and the argument has been sufficient, it is equally well known, to satisfy the predilections of same, and the consciences of others. To the conscience of any we would not oppose fallacy, or mere plausibility to unsettle them, if such were possible; but believing that such argument is in itself fallacious, we do not hesitate in all fairness and honesty to ask the perusal of the opposite views here taken, and in the light of judgment and candor, to institute a comparison between them. If the views of this sermon are not based, as they purport to be, upon the plain teachings of revelation, no one, we trust, will, by his biases, political or otherwise, be led to give them a feather's weight. If, on the other hand, the claim set up for themthat they are the germ and growth of paradise -is valid, the conscientious reader will then adopt his own mode of treating them, and dispose of them according to their consequences.

VILLAGE IMPROVEMENT .- Our village authorities are dressing up the public grounds, and giving attention to necessary repairs upon the streets, and the evidences of vitality and enterprize are gratifyingly apparent. The bad condition of Main street appeals loudly for some step in the way of improvement, and we are glad to hear that an essential and thorough plan of repair is in contemplation. The survey and grading of the north portion of it is now thought of, and every one with a spark of village pride, we trust, will give a hearty concurrence to so important and necessary a step.

DR. CHAS. DE HEINTZE, Oculist. Aurist and Electropathist, will be at the Ashtabula House. en Thursday and Friday, June 14 and 15th.

Conneaut Glee Club and the Kingsville Brass Band will attend the County Convention on Friday of this week. We understand they have both accented invitations to attend. The delegation from Conneaut will be liberal, says the Reporter, and if any other town can beat us in numbers, they can't excel us in enthusiasm. Ashtabula will be there.

Sculpture.-We have heretofore spoken of the exquisite taste, and superior workmanship noticeable at the marble yard of Messrs. Will-LARD & REEVES, of this village. Any one of taste will recognize at a glance that the designs and executions of work at this establishment are the results of much more than ordinary acquirement, or natural gift. Mr. REEVES showed us the other day, nearly complete, a piece of sculpture, chiseled by his own hand, from a daguerreotype head of one of our prominent citizens. It is cut in a pure piece of Rutland marble, of life size, in medalion style, and the striking fidelity in the copying, is evinced in the readiness with which it is recognized. The execution, to our unpracticed eye, is faultless, and we cannot but think, that as a work of art, it would rank with the efforts of those who have made this branch of art a life study. Its success is such, as to leave in the mind of the ob- MARY BOOTH, and Miss ANN CHEENY, for the server a thought of pleasure and gratification, and lead him to greep the hand that executed it and shake it with commendation and pride. Go and see it, reader.

RATIFICATION AT MEADVILLE.-The Republicans of Meadville, Pa., held a ratification meetdressed the meeting.

For Our census man, whom everybody hereabouts knows to be something of a wag, suggests that it would be a saving of time and trouble, if parents with numerous offsprings would acquaint themselves with their several names and ages, so as to be able to answer promptly when called upon.

STRAWBERRIES.—The question as to the best come, during their stay. variety of strawberries, is in our own mind settled. Without stopping to chaffer about the trifling difference between tweedle-dum and tweedle-dee, in the shades of flavor, and general lusciousness of this unequaled herry, we jump at once to the conclusion that the prolificness of Wilson's Albany Seedling places it immersuaably ahead of any variety with which we have had any acquaintance. It is equal in size to the Hovey, and more uniform in size, and more perfect in the development, while at the same time lished their quarters at the Hurbor, who are ennumber of producers, and their testimony is desireble fish .- Conneant Reporter. that the Wilson berry has no equal. In Painesupon our friend Lucz, over the creek, or Mc. a week .- Con Reporter

DAVID DyBois, of Plymouth. DR. NORRISH will be at the Ashtabula House on Monday, June 11th. Dr. CLARK at the ERICK DOUGLATS has returned to the Uni-June 28th. See edrs. fact was known to the public.

The Woodshopper of the West. BY GROBER W. BURGAY.

Far echoing in the dim old woods, Over the prairie lands and floods, hear reverberating strokes, That rive in rails the prestrate oaks. The woodman stands, sun-crowned and tall,

And wields with giant atreagth the mall That drives the wedge at every blow, Like Thor's huge hammer, sure and slow. And his herculean arms will hew The shadowing trees that hide the view Of the grand White House from the West,

That all may see our eagle's nest. This woodman is a pioucer,

And he will cut a pathway clear From Illinois to Washington, Before his noble task is done. We hear the thunder of his blows

Where the vast Mississippi flows, And echo unto echo calis, From granite hills and mountain walls, The monarchs of the hills and vales

Are split into protective rails, To fence within its dark domains The curse that comes with slaves and chains Fence out the wrong of power and place; Fence in the rights of all the race; Fence out the greedy hand that steals; Fence in the noble heart that feels.

Fence out the tyrant and his sway, Fence in the hero of the day; Fence out opprossion, vice and crime Fence in the truth from Heaven sublime, 23 The Springfield, (Mass.) Republican, aunonnees that the Rev. R. H. Conklin, of Providence, R. f. has accepted a call from the Congregational Church of Ashtabula.

PHOTOGRAPH OF LINCOLN.-We hav rereived from A. A. THAYER, a photograph of latitude, it is very well known, an ever- taken, we believe from a daguarreotype, and affording a good picture of that plain, honest face and head, which all the political prognosties of the day, give assurance is to be surrounded at no distinct day, with a halo of exe entive glory. Those who wish to procure copies we presume can do so at the gallery.

> TO HOLYOKE SEMINARY .- The catalogue for '59-'60 of this institution has been sent us, giving a list of the officers and teachers connected therewith. Of the latter, there are 20 besides the principal, and two associate principals. But one of the associates, however, is in service, the health of Miss Jesser, requiring relaxation from the arduous vocation to which she has so long been a devotee. From a recapitulation of the classes, we gather that the number of students enrolled, is 260-42 in the Senior-70 in the Middle-and 48 in the Junior classes. Of the character of Holyoke Seminary, little need be said. It writes its own panegyric upon the minds and characters of its pupils, who are to be found in every field of usefulness throughout the moral world.
